A dramatic resumé of life and events of Moline High School.

Shakespeare said, "All the world's a stage and all the men and women merely players". For once, we feel very grateful to Mr. Shakespeare, for his statement has suggested a very adaptable theme. Moline High School is a stage, and the pupils and teachers are the players in a great, living drama. In the following pages we have tried to catch a little of the spirit of that drama as it has been presented during the past year. We believe that the characterizations have been outstanding, that the action has been unusually fine, and that this has been an excellent performance. We are proud to present the "1937 M", a dramatic resumé of life and events at Moline High School.

Setting

Directors

The success of a play rests directly on the shoulders of the coach or director. He is the guiding and shaping force which must teach and coordinate the individual efforts of the actors so that a single, logical, smooth presentation is given. If the director is good, the play will probably be a success; if the director is not good, the play will be a failure.

The directors at Moline High School are outstandingly good. Year after year, Moline receives state and national recognition for some form of scholastic or extracurricular activity. Our rating is among the highest of the schools in this part of the state; our graduates are nearly always among the leaders in the annual competition for college scholarships.

This leadership can be traced directly to the ability of Moline's teaching staff. Efficient, able, experienced men and women are in every branch of school activity. May we repeat: the success of a play depends upon the ability of the director, and our presentation has been successful.

Administration

Although Mr. Nutting's of fices at Allendale are only across the street, we seldom see this "man behind the scenes". This fact does not hinder his popularity, however, and there is always a wild outburst of cheering when our superintendent makes one of his infrequent ap. pearances in roll-call.

When he isn't managing the Moline Public School system, Mr. Nutting finds time to add to his famous stamp collection or to go hunting. Another accomplishment for which he is justly famous is his ability to remember students by name.

Mr. Crakes, director of our school life, has so many people and things to keep track of that we sometimes wonder how he does it all, yet when some of us "overworked" students make our way to his "sanctum sanctorum" either because of a summons or with our problems, he not only is ready to listen to us but also seems to always have a good solution. Perhaps his willingness to help accounts for his popularity among the students.

With his speech classes, vis ual instruction, vocations, senior plays, moving pictures, and golf players, you might think Mr. Lain, our assistant principal, would have something to be concerned about, but he never looks worried. It might be because the student body buoys him up (?) but secretly, we think it's that little black haired daughter he has at home.

Whatever Mr. Lain does, though, he does well, and his popularity increases with every activity he leads.
E. Lee Barnett-Orchestra, Mechanical and Architectural Drawing
Wields the baton or the $\tau$-square equally well.

Classes

Perhaps some explanation is needed. In the following pages, the Seniors have been classified as the major characters, the Juniors as the minor characters, and the Sophomores as understudies. In this classification, the entire class has been considered, not the individuals within the class. Many Juniors and Sophomores have had more of an outstanding part in this production than some Seniors have had. However, the Seniors have headed most of the activities and events of the school year, and several of the activities have been entirely the work of Seniors. Line O' Type, "M", Civics and Dramatic Clubs, and other important high school functions have been headed by and largely composed of Seniors. It would be unusual if it were otherwise. The classification of the Juniors and Sophomores has been more from the usual interpretation of the meanings of "minor character" and "understudy". Often, a minor character is an understudy or vice versa, but the popular conception probably would place any character in a more important position than that of an understudy. Juniors are the more prominent because they have had more of a chance to get into extra curricular activities and to become known to the students than have the Sophomores, who are really just getting started. For this reason, the Juniors are classed as minor characters and the Sophomores as understudies.

Each of the classes has handled its part very capably; undoubtedly each will produce real major stars in time. We congratulate and commend each of them for their fine work during the past year.

Seniors

Applause, curtain calls, flowers, enthusiastic critics: they all belong to these two hundred fifty major stars. Taking leading roles in almost all of the school activities, the members of the graduating class must be given a huge share of the credit for the achievements of the various school departments during the past year. Seven members of the football team, three members of the basketball team, the officers of nearly all the clubs, the presidents of the Literary and Athletic Associations, major officers of the Line O', Type, all members of the " M " staff, captains of most of the athletic squads, important members of forensic teams: all were Seniors. The class, as a class, was equally outstanding, giving as proof of its prowess an informal, most enjoyed Senior Kermis masquerade party, a well presented Senior Class play, Jonesy, and an unusually fine Senior Ball, highest social event of the season. Perhaps we are prejudiced. We certainly are not pointing out the "weak spots" of the production, which, incidentally, are supposed to determine the play's strength. We believe, however, that we are justified in our eulogy, for this has been a most outstanding year, and the Seniors have certainly been the major characters.

Juniors

The Juniors are stopping at nothing to get their names in the bright lights. A glance at their record with its successful Junior play, its glamorous Prom, and its several well-attended parties, shows that these "minor stars" are socalled only because of tradition. Juniors were leaders in nearly all of the activities of the school.

Showing their "Hollywood instincts", the Juniors presented a most elaborate Junior-Senior Prom in the form of a "Swing Club", with plenty of rhythm and glamour. Several of the Junior girls also assured the success of the presentation by bringing Senior boys along. This seems to be a habit of Junior girls.
The class play, "The Late Christopher Bean", was one of the outstanding presentations of the year. Dawn Vermeulen was especially good as the patient victimized Abbie, who wins a fortune in the end.

These and other activities show us that we have a very promising outlook for next year, when these Juniors will have taken over the leading control of the staffs and teams-when these Juniors will be the "Major Stars" of another outstanding production.

Sophomores

Nothing in the province of literary forms is as baffling as comedy. Although not in the same way, nothing in the realm of this high school is as baffling as this class of 1939 and 1940. They came down to high school fresh (in more ways than one), eager, and self-confident, qualities which Sophomores aren't especially supposed to have. We usually think of Sophomores as green, little squirts that get lost going around from class to class, but these youngsters managed to get around to a lot of places besides mere classes. Though a great deal of their activity has been as "understudies", helping on staffs or teams while the upperclassmen starred, they have shown the ability to pinch hit very capably when a chance was given them.

Within their own realm of activity, these Sophomores have really "shone". Their parties can be compared to only a "premier", and their record in football and basketball compares favorably with that of the varsity squads. They promise to take over a large portion of the "heavy parts" next year and to make the class of 1938 really step to keep them out of the "leads".

Action

Athletic Board of Control

Cliff Peterson

Carl Pearson

Elsie Flick

In the fall of 1920, a Mr. Senneff came to Moline as coach. Since that time, Moline has had an enviable record in athletics. Several times we have had almost perfect records, but the climax was reached this year when our football team went through the entire season undefeated and the basketball team went to the state for the fourth year in succession. Not all the credit can be given to Coach Senneff, however, for his three stooges, Potter, Bean, and Lane are very capable; and are responsible for a great deal of the individual training the boys receive. Bean as line coach and Potter and Lane as Sophomore coaches give more of their time to the individual training of the boys in the fundamentals, while Senneff works out the trick plays and attends to the finer points as timing, screening, and faking. We must also mention Moline's famous manager, "Winnie" Holmgren, who takes care of the equipment and arranges the schedules for our teams. It is largely through his efforts that we have been able to get such teams as New Trier, Mason City, Beaumont, Proviso, and Decatur to come to Moline for games.

Largely under the leadership of Mr. Holmgren is a group of students known as the Athletic Board of Control which looks after the interests of the students in the Athletic Association. These representatives are chosen each year, one from each class, and they select the cheer leaders, arrange for the awarding of letters to team members, and help Mr. Holmgren in his ticket sales and other business. Members of this Board are pupils usually interested in athletics, who have formed definite ideas as to what they want in these matters.

Officers of the Athletic Association this year:
Clifford Peterson, president; Carl Pearson, vice-president; Elsie Flick, secretary.

Coaching Staff

Fred Allen, Bob Massey, Stan Trapkus, Frank Henss.

Golf

The fall division of Moline High's golf team was made up of the following members: Stan Trapkus, 1936 Caddy Champion of Arsenal, Bob Massey, District representative at the 1936 State Tournament, Fred Allen, and Frank Henss. The team was rather successful, placing second in the N. W. C., tying in a duel meet with East Moline, and losing to Kewanee, 6 to 5. Trapkus and Massey promise to wipe up the opposition next year, and it's quite possible that they may do so for they should gain valuable experience in tournaments this summer.

Boys' Tennis

In tennis, Hainline and his mates of Rock Island were too much for the aspiring young Maroon net stars, but we placed second to Rock Island in the Quad-City race. The fall team was made up of Paul Barclay, Alfred "Red" Rumberg, Seymour Deutch, Latimer Johns, and Marty Williams, all of whom graduate this year. Mr. Holm, gren, the coach, is thankful only for the fact that Hainline graduates, too.

Martin Williams, Latimer Johns, Paul Barclay, Seymour Deutch.

Girls' Sports

Under the auspices of the Girls' Athletic Association, girl sport enthus.asts, in each of the classes, organized and trained girls' basketball teams. Starting early in November, the girls practiced and trained throughout most of the school year, it seemed, reporting to the gym-

Senior nasium almost every night for games between "pick-up" or definitely chosen teams.

Basketball

After several weeks of this practice the class teams were chosen from the best players. Class team cap. tains were Jeanne Miller, Sophomore; Helen Zawada, Junior; and Frances Aldene, Senior. The tournament was outstanding, this year, for no one won. Both the Junior and the Senior teams won two games and lost one, each defeating the Sophomores once and each other once. The tournament finally ended in a draw, as the Junior and the Senior teams finished the final game tied 33 to 33 . No awards were made beyond those of the knowledge of victory and the benefits of supervised exercise. An admission price of five cents was charged for the tournament games, and many rabid fans disturbed late stayers with their husky cheers.

First row: Elizabeth Wallick, Rose Knehnel, Cornelia Steigenga, Elsie Flick, Velma Dean Duncan, Jeanne Miller, Mary Jane Shatto, Arline Swanson.

Volleyball

Girls' sports ended this year with an eight weeks session of volleyball. Although no tournament was held, the girls greatly enjoyed the nightly sessions of stiff play. Captains were chosen for each session and they chose the teams for the night. No class captains or teams were chosen, but the girls intermingled classes and groups as they played on a different team each night. Since the girls were playing for the fun and exercise of the game, no intense enthusiasm was felt outside of the gym, but the results justified the time spent. The games were held under the direction of Miss McElroy, girls' gym director.

Baseball

On September the fourteenth, the curtain rose on Baseball, the first act of a vigorous four act play, "Girls' Sports". The leading roles were played by Captains Beryl Anderson, Anita Lethin and Geraldine Lewis, who led their teams through the many merry moments of play.
No tournament was held but the three evenly-matched teams had many good, hard fought battles before the curtain fell on the 1936 season.

Third row: Frances Aldene, Helen Zawada, Elaine Allmendinger, Mary Louise Haubiel, Virginia Erickson, Mary Hark less.
Second row: Nadine Van Winkle, Dorothy Thorngren, Halcyon De Fraties, Lydia Abrahamson, Doris Warren, Charlotte Bjorndahl.

Girls' Sports

Tennis
In contrast to the other girls' sports, tennis called for only a few characters. After an informal tournament among G. A. A. tennis enthusiasts, Marilyn Tillberg was selected to be our representative in the Northwest Conference meet. A doubles team was also chosen, but due to unavoidable circumstances the squad was unable to compete in the tournament and disintegrated from lack of competition. Interest in the girls' part of Northwest Conference competition has just begun to be felt in Moline. Perhaps, in the near future, we may see as many girls trying for places as there are boys on the basketball squad. Just now, however, very little enthusiasm can be detected.

Intramural Basketball

Close to ninety enthusiastic sopho mores, juniors, and seniors reported to the field house in the early days of February to let off a little of their unruly pep by playing intramural basket ball. The group was divided into twelve teams, each captained by a senior boy. After several weeks of play, during which the teams which lost two games were eliminated from play, Jack Sundine and Jack Trevor met in the finals and Trevor's team won the game and the championship. Massey seemed to be the star for the champions while Captain Sundine shone for the losers.

Major Sports

Of all the phases of Moline High School activity, athletics was undoubtedly the most successful during the past year. An undefeated football team, a Sectional Championship basketball team, and a record-breaking track squad can mean only that Moline High School athletics have been outstanding. Part of this has been due to the ability of the coaches, part due to the prowess of the athletes, themselves, and a great part has been due to the interest and support of the students of Moline High School. Whether inspired by the cheerleaders, the team, or the excitement of the games, cheering and attendance reached lofty heights at many of the contests. Below are those hard-working, agile enthusiasts, M. H. S.'s most ardent sport fans, the cheerleaders.

Football

This year's football record can hardly be overemphasized We were not defeated; we were not tied. We were North west Conference Champions, Quad-City Champions, and could have laid a claim to the mythical state championship. Two Moline players, Cliff Peterson and Carl Hamilton, were given places on the All-State football squad. This year's football record will be hard to equal.

MOLINE 20 CLINTON 7

The Maroons, opening a most dramatic season, traveled to Clinton, Iowa, and trounced the River Kings 20 to 7. This game, as a dress rehearsal for the conference games which followed, gave advance notice of our intentions to come through the season undefeated.

MOLINE 37 MONMOUTH 7

Two thousand five hundred Moline fans watched a convincing rout of Monmouth's ill-omened grid-ironers as the Plows ground out a 37 to 7 victory, their start toward the N. W. C. title. Scorers were Peterson (twice), Masengarb, Lindley, Anders, and Sandler, who converted on all five extra point trials.

GALESBURG

Slippery, oozy mud and the hardest rain to fall on Browning Field since the advent of night football in the Fall of 1930 failed to daunt the husky Maroons as they plowed their way to a 12 to 0 victory over Galesburg. Moline's kicking was outstanding, with Masengarb averaging better than 50 yards on three kickoffs, and Marlier outdistancing Galesburg with a 38 -yard average in punts. Peterson and Lindley were the scorers.

MOLINE 33 KEWANEE 0

Moline invaded Kewanee and trounced the Boilermakers 33 to 0 while Moline fans were enjoying a spectacular display of lateral and forward passes. Peterson, Masengarb, Fiems, and Lindley ran rings around anything Kewanee could put up in the way of defense, while Kewanee's backs were being laid low by Moline's powerful line.

MOLINE 13 ROCK ISLAND

Here, Moline ran into some rugged opposition in the form of Romanoski and Co. The supposedly weak Islanders turned out to be quite troublesome and gave Moline a real fight for four full quarters. The defensive work of Masengarb saved the evening. A bit of great substituting by Moline's dependable Rumberg aided greatly after Lindley was injured. Incidentally, "The Red" crossed the chalk line for one of the touchdowns.

MOLINE 32 EAST MOLINE 6

Moline was invited to inspect the new East Moline Soule Bowl and proved to be a very unwelcome guest by drubbing East Moline 32 to 6. It was a case of a perfect working machine against a few individual stars. Although Moline added another game to the win column, they lost the services of their scrappy guard, Bud Lindahl, who fractured his arm and was lost for the rest of the season.

BEAUMONT

Moline brought to a close one of their most brilliant seasons on the gridiron by defeating Beaumont of St. Louis, Missouri, on Thanksgiving Day, before a crowd of five thousand people. Hopelessly outclassed during the first half, and with the score 6 to 0 against them, the Maroons came back and, in the second half, gave Beaumont a taste of their own medicine. Fighting with everything to gain and nothing to lose, they overpowered the opponents and handed Beaumont its first and only defeat. Late in the third quarter, Peterson cut off tackle for 57 yards on one of the season's most spectacular runs, then Masengarb finished the day by scoring on the old "statue of liberty". Sandler converted both times to cinch victory and an unblemished season.

MOLINE 29 KANKAKEE 0

After a record-breaking parade through the streets of Rock Island and Moline, and a banquet in which the M-Men's Association played host to some 150 former letter winners, the Maroons greeted the former stars by trouncing Kankakee 29 to 0. Clauson, Kankakee's overgrown fullback, proved very troublesome in the first part of the game, but the burden of Moline's attack was too much for him and he left the game in the second quarter. This victory was especially appreciated since, last year, Moline lost to New Trier on M-Men's Day, 9 to 0.

Sophomore Football

Under the direction of Coaches Potter and Lane, the Sophomores finished this season very successfully, as they have finished most others. While most of the fans were watching the varsity football squad in its undefeated march, the Sophs were quietly winning game after game. Undefeated until the last day of the tournament, the youngsters managed to tie for the championship of the Quad-City league. Davenport, always a tough team to beat, defeated us 12 to 0 in the closing game and spoiled our until then spotless record. Stars of the team seemed to be the Orendorff twins, Trevor, Fuller, Fredrickson, and Graflund, but no one person could be classed as outstanding. This shows the unity of the team, probably a large factor in their vic torious advance. Swain Fredrickson was not present when the picture was taken. The scintillating background for the picture was furnished by the curtain used in the John Deere Centennial celebration.

Track

"Simon Legree" Bean started his track hopefuls early in March with the intention of making a track team out of them. This was accomplished as far as the cinder trotters were concerned, but the team was woefully weak in the field events. Moline placed fourth in the Geneseo Carnival with 26 points, and followed this with a sixth place in the Davenport Relays.

However, let's come from backstage and enter the limelight. Moline defeated her oldtime rival, East Moline, by a score of $611 / 2$ to $281 / 2$ at the meet held in Moline's huge Field House. Also, they gave stage fright to the Rock Island men, but the meet ended 64 to 63 , Rock Island. The team placed third in the Quad-City meet, third in the N. W. C., and second in the District meet.

Moline's half mile relay team made up of Fiems, Schroeder, Masengarb, and Anders (Flip), held the center of the stage in most meets. This team will probably long be remembered as the fastest relay team in Moline High School history. They ran the district race in 1:33.8 seconds, setting a new District record, and followed this with a third in the state finals with 1:31.2. Captain Don Schroeder was the leading character in the Maroon production, "Cinders in Your Eyes", running the century in the District record time of 10.1 seconds.

CROSS-COUNTRY

Something new in the way of sports was introduced this year in the Northwest Conference, so new, in fact, that no official record was kept. We find, however, that Moline took third place in the N. W. C. meet, and second in the Quad-City meet.

Basketball

Moline continued its reign over the Northwest schools and the Quad-Cities by winning first place in both conferences in varsity basketball as well as in the sophomore races, and came close to setting a record when Moline was one of the "sweet six. teen" in the state for the fourth consecutive year.

After three days of practice, the maroon warriors met Fulton on the Field House floor and suffered defeat. Although the score, 17 to 15 , would indicate a very hard fought game, to the Maroon followers it was not so. After our football season, a defeat at the hands of a supposedly weaker team was hard to take. However, development was steady and one week later Moline, led by Fran Marlier, succeeded in trouncing the Boilermakers of Kewanee by the score of 20 to 34 .

On December 18, Moline met one of its deadliest rivals, Rock Island, on the Augustana hardwoods. Here Moline proved the worth of having capable substitutes, for when Moline's regulars were having a tough time finding the hoop, Coach Senneff rushed in Jack McDannell, undersized forward, and Jack Sandler, husky center, who proved to be the only Moline basketball players of the evening. Each garnered eight points to save the day, Moline carrying a 20 to 18 victory out of the tussle.

Following the Rock Island game, Moline had things pretty much their own way, taking the next eight games. On New Year's Eve, Moline handed a Davenport quintet the worst shellacing that Coach Moon has had to witness in his career as director of the Blue Devil cagers. Everything Mol, ine threw in the general direction of the basket was marked up as two points, while the Moonmen had a very hard job breaking Moline's defense and could ring up only thirteen points for the entire evening.

Basketball

The final score (a thirty-point lead, take note) was 43 to 13 . Next to fall before the powerful Maroon quintet was the old-time rival, East Moline. After playing a miserable brand of ball during the first half and trailing by a score of 13 to 5 , Moline came back and put on a new drive the second half and emerged the victors by a score of 35 to 27 . Then, Moline played host toa new team on the Field House floor; new to the fans, although Moline had met up with them on two different occasions at the state tournament. Moline was very rude to Quincy when they defeated their guests by a score of 45 to 18 . On January 15, Galesburg's Silver Streaks came to the Plow City and were handed the same kind of a welcome, a defeat, 33 to 27 . Moline then accepted an invitation to visit Quincy, and repeated their former act by defeating the Quincy Cagers 27 to 22 . Moline played the same trick on her next opponent, Monmouth, inviting them here and administering an 49 to 18 beating.

The following week, Moline was again able to prove the value of substitutes when we visited the Boilermaker city and played Kewanee on their floor. Capt. Cliff Peterson, Moline's ace guard, had been ailing for a few days and Coach Senneff decided to let him rest. He inserted Duke Holmes in Cliff's place, and Duke, a six-footer in Kewanee's "cheesebox" gym, was able to cover the back court very nicely with little effort on his part. Moline succeeded in squeezing out a 36 to 26 victory.

February 5, Moline again met up with Rock Island, but this time we forged ahead to a 40 to 28 victory.
The following week the M-Men played host to the Proviso team from Maywood and did every ${ }^{-}$ thing but play them. This, they left to the Maroon youngsters. Previous to this game, some dopesters had picked Proviso as the 1937 state champions, while others had picked Moline. Thus, the eyes of the state sporting world were turned briefly to the Moline Field House. The first half of the game was a nip and tuck affair with Capt. Cliff Peterson doing the most of Moline's scoring. The half ended with Proviso in the lead, 13 to 12 . During the second half, however, Proviso increased her lead steadily, largely through the control of the tip-off by Cronin, Proviso's 6 foot 5 inch center, and the work of Heilman and Mizen. Heilman will long be remembered by Moline fans for his deadly long shots. The game ended with Proviso as victor by a score of 35 to 25 .

Basketball

Moline continued its winning streak once again when they played a return engagement against East Moline and were able to come out on the right end of a 36 to 21 score.

Followers of the Maroons were given quite a jolt when on February 19, Galesburg's Silver Streaks handed Moline its third setback of the year, but the following day, Moline returned home and played host to the defending state champions, Decatur, and heaped revenge upon Capt. Parks and his lads by thrashing them, 38 to 24 .

On February 26, Moline met up with Davenport again on the Blue Devils' floor and was able to pull a 29 to 20 victory out of the fire and also cause a "total eclipse of the Moon" (Copy., E. P. Nutting, '37) for the first time in many years.

Moline wound up its regular season against Monmouth on the latter's home floor and gave the Maple City quintet a 30 to 14 lashing.

REGIONAL TOURNAMENT

Moline drew the upper and the harder of the two brackets while East Moline chose the lower. Moline successfully stowed away Rock Island for the third time in one season; East Moline rushed through her bracket in fine style but lost to Moline in the finals.

SECTIONAL TOURNAMENT

Due to the state basketball ruling, both Moline and East Moline entered the Sectional held in the huge Moline Field House. Both teams again breezed through their pairings, Moline packing away Fulton, the team that defeated us in the initial game of the season.

Again we found it necessary to defeat the Orange and Black cagers, and thereby win the sectional crown.

STATE TOURNAMENT

Tournaments are funny things. Proviso beat us; Dundee beat Proviso, and we had to play Dundee in the first round of the State meet. Critics were picking the winner of this game to be State Champi ${ }^{-}$ ons and, when we won 25 to 24 , there was, naturally, great rejoicing in Moline. The school practically moved to Champaign to see our next game with Decatur. Since we had already defeated Decatur by a convincing score, our hopes were exceedingly high, but $-\ldots$ ! Decatur got an early lead of a few points and proceeded to "stall" for the rest of the game. Our hopes for state championship ended, 14 to 11 , and the students came sadly homeward with only the hopes of another year to cheer them.

Sophomore Basketball

The Moline youngsters, under the watchful eye of Coach Potter, had a no less glamorous season than the varsity basketeers. The lineup, which changed considerably during the trend of the season, contained such stars as: Hankins, Pearson, Conrad, Anderson, Wendling, Kolifitis, and the Orendorff twins. Although facing some keen opposition, the team was able to get nine wins against only four defeats. One of these defeats was acquired at the hands of Port Byron's varsity squad and then only by a margin of six points, the final score being 33 to 27 .

The Maroon youngsters also duplicated the feat of the older Maroons when they succeeded in winning titles in both the Northwest Conference and the Quad City races.

Literary Coaches

Miss Ella Cockrell, head of the English department, is always interested in anything or any person pertaining to publications. Thanks to her help, many students have gone through the first stages of becoming honest-to-goodness reporters. Besides advising the school paper, Miss Cockrell business manages the junior and senior plays and stirs the Literary Association into action.

Miss Barbara Garst is a true friend and a great help to anyone interested in debate or dramatics (especially if they present her with pictures of Garbo). Upon Miss Garst's shoulders falls the greater share of the dramatic work. September through March, she struggles hopefully with the debate team, which this year, all thanks to her, won second place honors at the Augustana Debate Tournament. Besides coaching debate, Miss Garst coaches three of the major productions of the year: the junior play, the A.D.C. most anything, and the Dramatic Club play. Thanks to her insistence upon promptness and exactness, each of her plays proves to be a bigger success than the last one.

Nonchalantly but surely, Mr. Lain directs great things from the depths of his comfortable swivel chair. With the utmost ease, he calmly directed declaimers, orators, and extempors to top place honors in N.W.C. competition. Senior plays are also successfully produced under his deliberate supervision.

Cockrell

Garst

Lain

The Literary Association directs literary activities, for the most part, from the vantage point of backstage, ringing the curtain up and down at proper times and being on hand with the cues. It also has charge of the ticket office, however, placing all the returns in a common literary fund. Due to lack of student interest, many of the forensic contests had to be supported by the association. The directing group of the association consists of the officers and two board of control members from each class. Members of the association are those who have bought literary tickets, thereby gaining admittance to all forensic events as well as receiving the Line O'Type.

The responsibility of carrying the association through this act seemed to rest easily on the shoulders of Bill Rueckert, this year's president. Phyllis Holtz presided efficiently at the ticket office in the role of student manager.

All forensic events had to be planned by this group, for the association sponsors these activities. Beside the annual choosing of the next year's Line O'Type editor and business manager, obviously a grave business, this year brought the additional problem of doing justice to the twentieth anniversary of the Line O'Type. Then, in May, came the yearly Literary banquet attended by all speakers, writers, and ad-getters, when merit pins were awarded to the deserving. With this affair, the association rang down the final curtain on this year's performances.

Sponsors: Miss Cockrell, Miss Garst, Mr. Lain, Mr. Crakes.

Extemporaneous Speaking

Extemporaneous speaking is probably the most nerve-racking of the four forensic activities. The contestants must be prepared on ten or twelve different subjects, each of them dealing with some contemporary national or international problem. The contestants draw three subjects, choose one of them, and retire to locked rooms in which they have nothing but pencils and blank paper with which to prepare a speech. That hour spent alone has been known to drive people "nuts" (look at Bill Rueckert).

Ten students, most of them members of the special extemp class, participated in the local contest. The four chosen to represent Moline included Marjorie Baumgarten, Bill Rueckert, Myrna Fischer, and Leo Henrickson. This team competed in a dual meet with Rock Island, which they lost by a large margin. Marjorie, winner of first place in the local contest, represented us in the Northwest Conference Meet and managed to bring back third place honors. Rock Island, as usual, received first place.

Although the team members were not entirely successful from the "won and lost" viewpoint, they received several direct and indirect benefits from the study of the problems.

Subjects this year included Armament, Supreme Court, Relief, Spain, and Conservation. Team members rated very high in Civics, due to the knowledge gained from the intense study necessary in extemp.

Two members of the team, Myrna Fischer and Leo Henrickson, will be back for competition next year, a fact which brightens the outlook for next year considerably. The extemp class, too, always provides good material for teams.

Girls' Declamation

First scene of the four-part Forensic drama was classed as Girls' Declamation, a fine opening number. The team which represented Moline was chosen through two elimination try-outs: first, a rather informal appearance in which the girls gave a short reading of their own choosing, second, the local contest of eight girls in which they gave memorized declamations on the stage. In this contest, Marion Odell received first place, Marjorie Batchelor, second place, and Virginia Johnson, third place. Arline Swanson, Myrna Fischer, and Arline Anderson also succeeded in making the team. As a team, the girls did not fare so well, losing to both Rock Island and East Moline.

Marion Odell, as the school's official representative, appeared in the Northwest Conference meet held on our stage. Giving her declamation, "The Story of a Madman", with the aid of a most ghastly appearing make-up (see snapshot section), she succeeded in attaining second place. Rock Island, famed for its gifted speakers, took first place and East Moline, third. Marion says that she so thoroughly "lived" her reading, that she dreamed of going mad herself a few nights later.

In order to stir up a little enthusiasm among the high school students, Bill Rueckert, President of the Literary Association, called upon the girls to give a brief portion of their memorized speeches before the assembled student body during roll call one morning. As a result of this advertising, almost one hundred Moline students attended the Conference meet, and came away well repaid by the efforts of the girls.

Boys' Oratory

The scene changes. Oratory, an all-star masculine production, next faced the footlights. Try-outs revealed real talent and ten lads were cast for the local contest, in which four, unfortunately, had to be eliminated. The six superspeakers chosen to represent Moline High as a team were Dick Pettit, who rated first; Bill Rueckert, second; Neil Danberg, third; Latimer Johns, Russell Johnson, and Leo Henrickson.

Moline's first battle in the triangular meet was with Rock Island. Much hope and confidence accompanied the boys when they went to meet our greatest rivals, but as luck would have it, we lost by a very close margin, Bill Rueckert placing second and Dick Pettit, third.

Rubckert
Danberg
Johnson

Pettit
Johns
Henrickson

Again fate stepped in, when Moline took on the next comer, East Moline. Our boys did well, but East Moline did us "one better", Neil Danberg being the only one to place for Moline. Neil placed third.

Bill Rueckert represented Moline in the Northwest Conference meet. Bill really "went to town" with his emphatic message, "A Way of Life", and brought back the title of "third best", among the six schools competing.

The outlook for next year is none too bright, for only two team members will return.

Debate

Resolved: "That the government should own and operate all electric utilities."

Debate proved to be the "hit of the season", this year. It drew a greater interest and a larger audience than any other forensic performance. This may be largely due to the fact that Civics and English classes were compelled to attend, but many lesser classmates turned out to hear these "battles of wit".

Twelve debaters made up the practice team that debated nearly every night for experience. Six of them were finally chosen for the Varsity team. They were, Myrna Fischer, Marjorie Baumgarten, Bill Rueckert, Leo Henrickson, Latimer Johns, and James St. Clair.

All in all, the team competed in twenty-six debates. They made an excellent beginning in a series of debates held at Augustana College. Twenty five schools of the Middle West competed. The debating continued for two days, the contestants taking on one team after another, one being eliminated after each debate. One of the high-lights of the contest was Moline's spectacular victory over Davenport in the semifinals, which put Moline in the finals with Elgin and Iowa City. Elgin placed first, Moline, second, and Iowa City, third. For this, the Moline team received a cup, the first ever won by Moline High for any extracurricular activity outside of of sports. The Northwest Conference resulted in a triple tie for first, with Moline placing fourth.

Line O'Type

The school paper is, in itself, a play that "holds the mirror up to nature" and shows the school her own image. Editor Richard Pettit and his staff worked consistently toward this end - that of making the paper a true reflector of the life of Moline High School. One in novation that sent the paper along toward its goal was the student contribution column, "What Do You Think About It", a mirror of current student opinion.

A bit of dash was added to the paper during the football season by the appearance of a series of gridiron action shots. The sports stories, the editorials, and "Pappy's" dirt column, "Pixilation", reflected, and also influenced, school trends.

Long before the month of March had started its engagement here, the memorable twentieth anniversary celebration of the LINE O'TYPE was being planned and prepared. Fred Eldean, first editor of the LINE O'TYPE, had encircled March 12 on his calendar early in the year; and, direct from New York City, he appeared to be co-sharer of honors with Judge Albert Crampton, first business manager. Mr. Nutting presided as toastmaster, and prepared the stage for each speaker. Miss Julia Gettamy, first advisor to the LINE O'TYPE, and Miss Ella Cockrell, present sponsor, also appeared in leading roles.

Beside each dinner plate, silently waiting to be exclaimed over, were the real stars of the occasion: the first issue of the LINE O'TYPE, and the 1937 anniversary edition.

Here's a ticklish situation. We must be modest, and yet we have to tell about the " 1937 'M', the greatest book in the history of Moline High School". To become more serious, however, we have watched this book grow from an idea within the head (what head?) of the editor to the printed reproduction which you now hold. We have planned the pictures, the writeups, the descriptions, the arrangements, and the financial affairs for an entire year, always on the lookout for something which needed changing or correcting. We have always had the students of Moline High School in mind, your preferences, your ideas on a certain matter, your reactions to the previous " M "'s. If we have succeeded in preserving a record of this school year, the purpose of this book has been fulfilled; if you like the manner of our presentation, the book has been a success. There are mistakes in it, of course. No book can be perfect. We don't ask you to overlook those mistakes; we ask you to tell us about them. Maybe they'll prevent some mistakes in next year's " $M$ ". May we again thank you students of Moline High School for your support during the past year. The " M " is yours now, and we hope you like it.

The Bat

With such a brilliant, self-assured detective as Jack Sundine, it seems strange that it took three acts to find the murderer of Richard Fleming, yet we can't blame him very much. He had a screaming maid, a fake gardener, a "rip-snorting" amateur detective, and a hidden fortune to contend with. Then, too, when you consider the fact that he himself was the murderer-! Jack really turned in an excellent piece of acting, fooling even the stage hands until the last scene.

The trouble began when Aunt Cornelia, seeking the peace and quiet of the country, rented the Fleming mansion from Richard Fleming, son of the owner of a bank from which several thousand dollars in currency had been taken. The cashier, Brooks, who is in love with Aunt Cornelia's niece, is accused of stealing the money and, in order to clear himself, he comes out to the Fleming mansion to search for a hidden room in which he believes the money has been placed. After hearing people pounding on the wall and seeing several "ghosts", Aunt Cornelia calls a detective to quiet down the country a little. The plot thickens, involving the appearances of an unknown man, a Japanese butler, a doctor who is shielding someone, a false fireplace, blueprint paper, and a bat. In the exposé, we find that the detective is "The Bat", a well-known criminal, that the unknown man is the detective, that the room behind the fireplace contains the money, and that the play has been a great success. All of the cast turned in excellent pieces of act ing, especially Dawn Vermuelen, Jeanette Blomgren, and Sundine. The Dramatic Club and Miss Garst are to be congratulated on the excellence of the presentation.

Under the direction of Miss Garst and the Latin Department, Dido and Aeneas became one of the most beautiful presentations of the yearAgainst a background of light blue, with flame topped columns as decorations, girls and boys of the Latin and music departments danced, sang, and acted in a very lovely manner.

The story of the play was the well-known romance of Aeneas, wandering Trojan prince; and Dido, queen of Carthage. Driven by

Dido and

 Aeneas fate from Troy, Aeneas lands at Carthage, his ships wrecked and his men discouraged. Gracious Dido invites them to stay and Cupid, half-brother of Aeneas, causes her to fall in love with the Trojan. Aeneas' struggle between love and duty, Jupiter's command that he should leave, his departure, and Dido's consequent death at her own hands make up the rest of the tragic story. The acting, heavy and very dramatic, was quite ably handled by members of the Latin classes.Credit for the success of the production must be divided among several of the teachers: Miss Garst, director; Miss Warner, scenery; Miss Kent, costumes; Miss McElroy, dancing; and Miss Dunlap, music. The art department also helped in the arranging of the beautiful setting.

The Late Cbristopher Bean

With a grasping wife and a lovesick daughter clamoring for the moonlit beaches of Tahiti, we can readily see why Mr. Haggett said, "It ain't never been said that I was greedy for money."

It is even easier to understand why he was so tempted to keep Abbie's picture, worth about $$ 25,000$. You see, the late Christopher Bean, a rather idealistic, impressionable artist, had left his pictures to Abbie, veteran "hired help" at the Haggetts, because she was the only one who appreciated his art. When, after his death, the pictures became valuable, Mr. Haggett claimed them on the grounds that Chris had owed him a lot of back rent. A surge of art speculators, a feverish hunt for pictures, and a touch of romance between a local artist and the "quiet sister" served to enliven the action. The climax comes when Abbie admits that she has married Chris Bean and that the pictures are hers because of this. As the play ends she leaves with her pictures, driven away by the greediness of the Haggett family. Miss Garst directed the play, her third presentation of the year.

Standing: Marilyn Tillberg, Patricia Wadsworth, Ralph Fuller, Max Knees.
Seated: Murner Thor, Emily Swanson, Dawn Vermuelen, Eugene Krone, Jack Luchsinger.

The Girls' After Dinner Club made its most popular hit of many seasons in the production, "The Senior Sallies of 1937". Although under the general direction of Miss Garst, the girls produced the show themselves and demonstrated that they do have talent. The first part of the Sallies was an enactment of the play, "The Old Peabody Pew", in which Kay Hrusovar and manly Pearl Johnson were united after being separated for ten years.

Part two, the Sallies proper, was presented in eight acts. First was "The High School Girl Is Talented", featuring a singing and dancing act. Second, "The Moline High School Girl Changes", depicting said girl from 1876 to 1937. Third, "The Moline High School Girl Studies", directed by Kay Hrusovar, whose paraphrasing of modern song hits was one of the high lights of the program. Fourth, "The Moline High School Girl Is Athletic", enlivened by a rapid change from winter to summer.

Fifth, the Smutz and Shatto act which brought down the house - and the pennies. Sixth, "The Moline High School Girl Frolics" amid Coca Cola bottles.

Seventh, "The Moline High School Girl Imitates", an entertaining presentation of some of Moline's famous characters. The final act was "The Moline High School Girl Dreams of the Future", a fitting climax to an excellent evening's entertainment.

Jonesy

It seems that all good things come at the same time. Many students missed a hilarious Senior play when they attended the State Basketball Tournament.

The story of the play started when "Jonesy", a troublesome young fellow about twenty years of age, succeeded in taking a girl in a local stock company out to lunch. Papa and mama Jones hastily jumped at conclusions and papa at once went to see the "cheap actress" and persuade her not to seduce their "loving" son. To make matters worse, "Jonesy" lost the family car in a poker game, and had to do some tall story telling at home. His fiance, Mildred Ellis, broke the engagement when she heard of the affair, but forgot to feel bad when she found that "Jonesy's" friend, Billy Morgan, was the son of a multi-millionaire. After meeting and insulting Miss Deveraux, the actress, Mr. Jones finds to his dismay that she is the niece of one of his best clients, Mr. Jackson. After a fight between Mr. Jones, Mr. Silverburg, and a policeman, and a telephone conversation in which "Jonesy" tells Mr. Jackson where to "head in", the happy ending comes as a relief. The play ends as the actress hooks "Jonesy", Mildred hooks Billy Morgan, and Mr. Jones hooks his contract with Mr. Jackson.

Opening with an elaborate "Streets of Paris" prologue featuring that glittering chorus of graceful, dancing girls, the Fellowship Minstrels again closed the Dramatic (?) activities of the year with a bang and a song. Outstanding in the prologue were Dick McCune, whistler; Johns and Williams, Two Boys with Their Trombones - and a story about a little rabbit; and Mr. Jones with his German band and songs.

The Minstrel proper featured an unusually large array of talent, with seven ballad singers and eight end men. Outstanding in this part were Jack Holmes as the Kid in the Three Cornered Pants, "Park Avenue" Thorngren, Franny Marlier, and Baldy Day. As in previous years, the Minstrels brought out a full house and great billows of applause. A bouquet of carrots, radishes, and celery given by the A.D.C. girls was greatly enjoyed by cast members after the performance. A mad scramble for pennies also featured several of the numbers.

Credit for the success of this presentation must be given to Phil Lieon, director of both prologue and Minstrels proper, and to the talented boys of the Senior Class of 1937.

After Dinner Club

This year's After Dinner Club successful? Of course! The club, as always, justified its existence by creating new friendships and developing new abilities while the senior lasses worked and played together. Each regular meeting called for programplanning, speakers, decorations, and advertising, so every girl had a chance to "get a part".

Came the "Senior Sallies", climaxing all activity. Enterprising members of the club, casting about for some version of the annual drama that would set apart the 1937 A.D.C., had conceived the idea of presenting the Moline High School Girl. With that theme, the girls of the "Sallies" frolicked and sang themselves straight into the hearts of their recordbreaking audience. Long before the final curtain, critics, usually hard to please, were acclaiming the production for its cleverness and originality. The girls who wrote or coached a part of the production deserve their names in the bright lights.

Officers: Marjorie Dunblazier, president; Mary Lou Nordell, vice-president; Elsa Larson, secretary treasurer.

Advisors: Mrs. Wilson, Miss Warner, Miss Stacy.

First row: Jones, Pothitos, Moran, Odell, Schwenker, Hrusovar.

Take about forty senior boys; add a lot of spirit and fine fellowship. Mix thoroughly. Then add a sprinkle of ambition and a pinch of fun and laughter. After this has been well mixed, turn into the high school cafeteria and you have-Ah! Yes, that's right, the Fellowship Club.

Meetings of the club were held the second Wednes ${ }^{\text {. }}$ day of each month, for the purpose of creating fine fellowship and a social time for the senior boys.

The club boasts a very successful year. Many well-known speakers have discussed such interesting topics as "Baseball", by Mr. Magerkurth; "Stamps", by Mr. Mills; and "Travel and Climbing the Tetons", by Mr. Ekblad. A German band, composed of members of the club, was also a feature at one of the meetings. Aside from these, the club put on its annual Minstrel Show, one of the most successful events of the school year.

Officers: Jack Trevor, president; John (Duke) Holmes, vice-president; Don Anderson, secretary treasurer; Carl Swanson, sergeant-atarms.

Faculty Advisor: Mr. T. N. Jones.

Cinis Club

Underclassmen (Sophomores and Juniors) hold the Civics Club much in awe, for it suggests things mysterious, erudite, and lofty: governmental policies, presidential preferential primaries, and civic good deeds.
However, seniors found such a scholarly atmos. phere not too difficult, and enjoyed thoroughly a City Council meeting, a court sitting, and a visit to the county offices.
Special days frequently found club members performing on the roll call stage, and valiant is the word for them; a civic program which is not boring to the ordinary high school student demands careful prep. aration.
Following out its purposes, the Civics Club sent a selected committee out to work with the city committee in the "Beautify Moline" campaign.

The 12 B 's were offered the ticket of admission this year, so it was a full house that applauded speakers at each regular meeting. Mr. Nutting, Reverend Pearson, Mr. Campbell, and Dr. Mabel Otis were among the featured speakers.

"The play's the thing" if it's the Dramatic Club you're speaking of. Adjusting the periwig, aspiring young players of this popular organization produced, with a bit of planning, some hilarious, some heartrending, all inimitable programs for the five studenttalent meetings.

As the first play of the school season, Dramatic Club's mystery thriller, "The Bat", darted effectively across the footlights while lightning flashed and Vermuelen shrieked. The elderly aunt, who, properly brave, handles situations, and the strutting, snooping, detective who-was the villain high-lighted the performance. The backstage cast made a lavish offering of thunder, lightning and queer noises.

Randall Nyman, Charlie's aunt "from Brazil, where the nuts come from", was chosen by the members of the club to receive the Dramatic Club Cup for outstanding acting.

Band

When the curtain rose on Browning Field, last fall, it introduced not only one of the finest football teams in Moline High's history, but one of its greatest bands also. This year's band is the largest in the High School's history, being composed of forty four members.

Not only did the band boast of its size, but also of its varied programs throughout the football and basketball seasons. Besides appearing before the fans at Browning Field and the Field House, the band led the "M-Men's Day" parade, gave a very success ful and much appreciated concert in the auditorium, and presented concerts at the Scottish Rites Cathedral and at Seven-Acres for the benefit of the Moline Woman's Club.

The band surprised fans at the basketball games by offering "Chapel in the Moonlight" and "Roll Along, Prairie Moon" in addition to the usual marches.

Due credit must be given to Mr. Youngdahl, leader and instructor of the band, and to Louis Thornbloom, who was selected by the band members to serve as drum major.

This year's Orchestra was not heard very often in public until the last few months of the school year. Nevertheless, the members have labored very industriously on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons in the Central building trying to overcome the very great handicap of the lack of string instruments. This handicap, however, to the enjoyment of the student body, was directly responsible for the dropping of classical and semi-classical music in favor of popular and standard numbers.

Appearances of the Orchestra were very rare, although small groups performed throughout the year at the athletic banquets. The Orchestra, as a whole, assembled and played at the Chamber of Commerce banquet, conducted a very fine program in the auditorium, and furnished the music necessary for the commencement exercises.

The total membership of the Orchestra numbered twenty five and again, as in previous years, Mr. Barnett was the leader and instructor.

Visual  Education Club

Moline High School holds an enviable position among local schools in the field of visual education. Almost every course includes one or more periods during which films or slides are shown to the classes.

In charge of the operation and care of the films, slides, and machines is a group of male students, usually fanatics on photography. All classes contribute to this group, and the various members receive credits in proportion to the time spent in the task. Each member is given individual instruction in the dependable, efficient, and accurate operation of the machines, and shows films to classes which meet during his study periods. The club is directed partly by Mr. Lain, faculty director, partly by Robert Paul, student director, and partly by the office force.

After three years of untiring and efficient service, the usher club is one of the most useful and helpful organizations of our school. The purpose of the club is to provide systematic and reliable usher service for all dramatic, athletic, and forensic activities connected with the school.

The club's most eventful nights were those of the Galesburg football and the Proviso basketball games. In the first game, rain caused all except the ushers and a few umbrella-protected fans to seek the covered portion of the stands; in the second, a record crowd caused the ushers many minutes of weary fan-herding. The club worked in shifts during the tournaments to assure smooth manipulation each night.

In its fourth year of this service, the usher club boasts a regular membership of thirty-two, with six alternate ushers. Two meetings were held for the purpose of the electing of officers, the setting up of a system of rules, and the assigning of future duties.

The officers who served this year were: Velmadene Duncan, president; Helen Miedke, vice president; Ruth Sparling, secretary treasurer; Keith Wind, head usher.

Girls' Athletic Ass'n

Gainng health while they were piling up points, sturdy members of the Girls' Athletic Association played their way through this year's performance with that energy which has always characterized the organization. A hike and weiner roast gave early impetus to the scheduled activities, but a rainstorm came up as the Sophomores were being initiated, and sent all damply homeward.

The fall play day brought out-of-town troops of girl sport devotees to the local athletic field for games and fun. Team selection for the games succeeded in mingling the various school groups so that new found friends played with, not against, each other. Stunts and folk dancing after dinner sent the guests gayly homeward.

Two tournaments, one of which ended in a tie, served to keep up intra-school enthusiasm in girls' sports.

The Hi-Y cabinet trooped back from the annual Archie Allen setting-up conference, curtain-raiser to a most successful year, and carried through an exuberant membership campaign in a flurry of flags, booths (see picture) and blue and silver triangles. An active membership of 150 under the guidance of able officers probably is the reason for this club's successful participation in so many activities.
Following the path of service, the girls maintained a conscientious interest in the East Moline State Hospital. A practical offering of used books and silk stockings was made during one of the visits.

One hundred hilarious, irrepressiable out-oftown guests were fittingly entertained when the Mississippi Hi-Y Recreational conference came (and went) to town.

The blue-and-silver Projects Tree was burned in solemn ceremony as the grand finale.

Officers: Kay Hrusovar, president; Virginia John son, vice-president; Alice Barawski, secretary (fall term); Marvel Robbins, secretary (spring term); Roberta Townsend, treasurer.

Senior Boys' Hi-Y

Entering into the field of social activity with much enthusiasm, some fifteen or twenty senior boys organized the annual senior Hi-Y Club. They as sembled weekly for their regular argumentative meet ings in the Y's parlors, taking time occasionally, for a swim or basketball game. The regular monthly feed and several parties helped to keep up the interest.

Besides their discussion meetings, the group conducted several very interesting campaigns and outside activities. Without a doubt, the most notable of their efforts was the Safety Campaign. This campaign dealt with safer driving and consisted of lectures, tests on portable machines sent out by the Chicago Motor Club, and an abundance of literature passed out during roll call.

Late in the spring, the club wowed the school by appearing in flashy maroon polo shirts adorned with the regular Hi-Y emblems.

Three members were sent by the club to the annual State Older Boys' Conference held at Danville, Illinois.

Officers: Walter Thorngren, president; Carl Swanson, vice-president; Paul Barclay, secretary treasurer; Morrie Steffenson, advisor.

Since neither the Junior nor the Sophomore Hi-Y had enough members to carry on a club alone, the two merged, forming a fine club of some twenty members. The regular joint meetings held each Tuesday night featured several interesting discussions on such sub jects as "Girls", "Strikes", "Liquor", and "How to Get the Car". Although the club sponsored no outside campaigns of their own, they played an important part as understudy and helper to the Senior Club, assisting them in their safety campaign. The Juniors attended several bowling and swimming parties at the Y , among them, that well-remembered joint Junior-Senior Party on New Year's Eve.

Two official representatives were sent by the club to the State Older Boys' Conference held at Danville, Illinois, and several other members attended, sent by churches from this community.

Archery Club

Anyone stepping into the gym on certain Tuesday afternoons would have thought he had suddenly and mysteriously been transferred back to Medieval times, for the air certainly contained a mysterious element, namely, the twang of an archer's bow. Upon closer inspection, he would have discovered the high school's bowmen going through their paces.

The gym was always decorated in special garments (old rugs, heaps of straw, and a battered target) for the occasion. These were to assure the archers that they would not do the one and only most disgraceful, most intolerable act possible: miss the target plus backstop and knock a big chip out of the wall. Requirements for membership are simple: a bow and arrow, free time on Tuesday afternoons, and a lot of patience.

Each year, the finest singers from the advanced glee clubs are invited by Miss Dunlap to join the choral club. Members once in, usually remain there until graduation releases them, or they find that they need the time and ask to be dropped. The usual membership is sixteen but during the past semester, the retention of three second tenors caused the total to be raised to seventeen. Practice was held every night and the constant repetition caused the club to be almost perfect in their renditions. Several performances were given, including two over Station WHBF, a concert for the Women's Club, and two roll-call appearances. Each year, just before the Christmas vacation, the club dons its long maroon and white robes and marches through the halls singing Christmas carols (see picture). The group also sings at the commencement and baccalaureate exercises.
In addition to their group singing, members of the club often discuss programs, songs, and singers during their daily rehearsals. Four of the members will be lost this year by graduation.

Home Economics Club

Tasting spoons and basting thread yielded the foot lights for sociability's sake on meeting nights of the Home Economics Club, and cooks and seamstresses enjoyed real "home cooking" in friendly collaboration. But anyone of these girls could tell you that a Christ mas dinner party has its very practical side when one hundred and ten guests must be planned for and fed. Thus, intelligence in quantity buying and preparing of food becomes a part of the training these girls receive.

Dresses made by the members often serve for school or party wear and encourage other attempts at "home economy". Girls are expected to eat their own cooking and soon learn the mysteries of utensils, recipes, and edible ingredients. Prospective housewives also learn the fundamentals of properly balanced diets and well-planned menus, as well as the proper serving technique.

The girls entertained proud mothers at a late spring social affair where the spotlight was focused on their exhibit of home-making and household arts.

John Deere Gave to the World the Steel Plow

THE year was 1837. The place, Grand Detour, Illinois. John Deere, the village blacksmith, had been challenged . . . his friend, Lewis Crandall, had threatened to "go back East if you can't build me a plow that'll scour".

John Deere was worried, for well he knew that Lewis Crandall's problem was the problem of the bustling West. He had heard the talk of sturdy pioneers up and down the wagon trails. "It's the richest soil that lies outdoors," they said. "But no plow'll ever turn it, once the sod is broken."

No need to tinker with the cast-iron and wood plows brought from the East, concluded Deere. Only a plow with a highly-polished surface could scour its way through this sticky soil ... A highlypolished surface, mused the blacksmith.

Fortunate, indeed, that the sun shone brightly the morning John Deere went to the community's sawmill to repair a broken shaft. Its brilliant rays bounced from the polished surface of a broken saw blade into the alert eyes of John Deere. Wait . . . that's it . . . steel . . . steel for plows . . . no soil could stick to that smooth surface.

Day and night he worked, perfecting his great idea . . . building the plow of his dreams. Into the field he took it . . back to his shop for changes ... out again and back again, until he knew it was right.

A memorable day it was when, surrounded by skeptics and well-wishers, John Deere turned a clean furrow with his new steel plow. He had conquered the prairie soil . . . he had made possible the permanent settling of a great agricultural empire. Now, Lewis Crandall could stay and farm his rich acres.

Little did John Deere realize that his name was to be burned deep into the history of agricultural progress. Humble, yet proud of his workmanship . . . he built plows that set the standard of plow quality the world over.
"I'll never put my name on an implement that hasn't in it the best that is in me," John Deere once said. That was his ruling pride, the ideal which has guided the organization that bears his name today.

Eleven great factories, building equipment for every farming operation . . . branch houses in every principal farming area . . .thousands of dealers selling and servicing John Deere goodsthese are the living, thriving monuments to the man who gave to the world the steel plow, one hundred years ago.

Class of 1937

We are proud of your achievements as students!
The educational advantages you have enjoyed were provided at the expense of the community and by the efforts of your parents.

The best repayment or expression of appreciation that you can make will be to make the most of your ability and education by using it for your own improvement and for the betterment of the community and the country in which you live. It was for that purpose that this education was provided for you.

One further thing is expected of you. When you take the places of your parents as citizens of your community and heads of families, you are asked to provide at least as good educational advantages for the children of that future day as have been provided for you.

Remember that free education has not always been free. It was only two or three generations ago that high schools were established against the bitter opposition of selfish, short-sighted interests that advocated education only for the favored few. Those same interests are always ready to destroy or cripple the institution of free public education when the opportunity offers.

The men who founded this government well understood that it could endure only if the citizens who control it are enlightened. John Adams clearly expressed their views when he said: "The whole people must take upon themselves the education of the whole people, and must bear the expense of it."

You are to be congratulated upon your fine school record. May your achievements in later life be equally noteworthy.
